| MED Stakeholder: | MarED Group of Notified Bodies |
| MED Item: | All items |
| Legal basis: | Directive 2014/90/EU, Annex II, Section I (Module B), paragraph 6. |
| Key words: | Type-examination, certificate format |
| Technical Standards | Not applicable |
| Test Methods/Limits | Not applicable |
| Acceptance criteria | Not applicable |

Question:

MODULE B CERTIFICATES

Each Notified Body uses its own format for Module B certificates. Should a standard certificate format be used, or should each certificate contain specified minimum information?

Recommendation:

The information provided on the certificate is of prime importance to the recipient and should provide all necessary information relating to the approval.

The EC type examination certificate is to contain the information shown in the attachment which provides a suitable example format and layout for a Type-Examination Certificate.

The EC type examination certificate should list all applied international instruments from column 2 and 3 of the implementing regulation.

Note: Where an International Resolution specifies additional criteria to be included on a certificate, this must be complied with in addition to the above criteria. {For example: FTP Code, note - where Resolutions are amended, these should also be taken into consideration.}
